

The Counselor Connection

MARCH 2021

This month's character trait: COOPERATION

So What is It?

Cooperation means working together to achieve a common goal.

Why is it Important?

Cooperation is an important character trait because by working with others, we learn different perspectives and strategies, and can express our own to teach others. It can also help to reach a goal much faster with someone than if we were working alone!

How can you Show Cooperation?

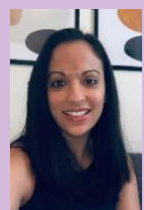

- Putting away the laundry that your sibling folds
- Watering the plants while your parent mows the lawn

- Taking turns on the swings at the park with a friend
- Bringing in the groceries with a family member
- Playing a competitive sport
- Teaching a younger sibling or family member how to do something
- Waiting until it's your turn to speak during class time
- Clearing the table after a meal while your parent does the dishes
- Working with a sibling to make a birthday card for a family member
- Taking turns reading pages in a book with a grandparent
- Doing your fair share on a group project
- Agreeing to take turns choosing a movie for movie night

Career Week Artists & Authors

We received SO many great Career Week submissions and couldn't choose just a couple to be featured in our newsletter this month, so we've added a couple pages to showcase all of the incredible artwork and poetry!

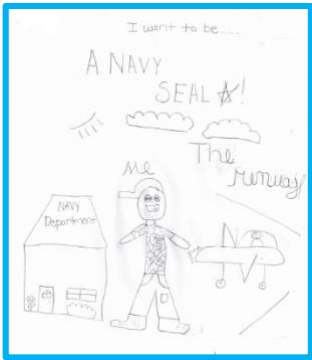

Thank you to everyone for participating and sharing with us. You did an amazing job and we hope you enjoyed Career Week as much as we did!

Solve It!

Written by: Sophie, 4th grade

In this job, you have to see things that others cannot.

Like if a person says another's name and their face gets hot!

This would mean, for instance, that they feel strongly for that person,

And you could check their name of their list Of people who may want to curse them!

The most famous person who does this job

His last name rhymes with gnomes

And, no, his name is not Jack or Bob

But the incredible Sherlock Holmes.

If you haven't guessed my dream job yet

I urge you - please do

Since nothing rhymes with it,

I'll guess I'll go ahead and tell you...

My Future Career Poem

Written by: Kylah, 4th grade

There are so many things you can see

There are so many things you can be!

That can mean rearranging

That can mean changing!

I see firefighters

I see cops

I see janitors who mop

There are so many things you can be!

So many things you can be!

I want to be a Scientist

As helpful as can be

A Scientist will be me!

There are so many things you can be!

Police or firefighters

Janitors too!

What do you want to be?

There are so many things you can be!

What I Want to be When I Grow Up!

Written by: Daniella, 4th grade

When I'm older

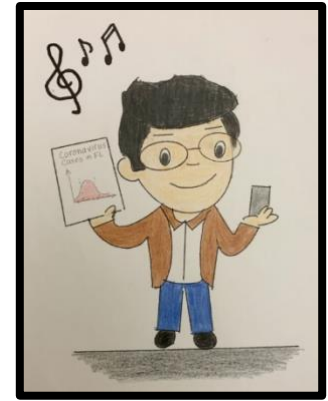

I want to be a famous performer

A singer, actress, dancer

I want to be bolder.

I want to be a violinist and pianist

I will be the finest.

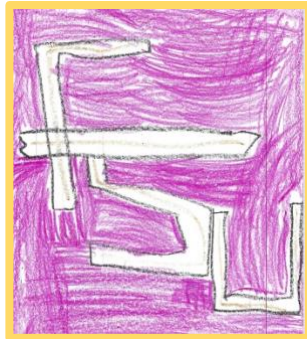

Artwork by Jonathan. 5th grade

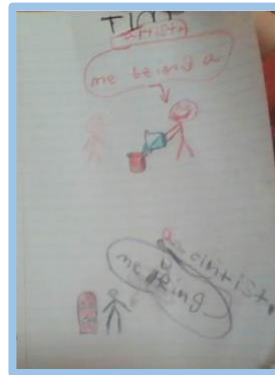

Did I mention I also want to be a doctor?
Oh my goodness, that will be such an honor
When I grow up it will be such a wonder!

Care For The Kids

4th Grade Mr. Reese Future Pediatric Oncology Nurse

I want to grow up to be a cancer nurse
I will keep my shiny stethoscope in my purse
I will make all the cancer kids feel much better
And when they go home i will send them a love letter

This is dedicated to my baby brother, cancer warrior.

Hello, im Sadie and I'm in the 5th grade. I love to sing and in the year of 2019 I was the youngest out of the honor choir and my future career is to go all around the world and spread the word of god and the word love witch most people don't know how to love but all love is a choice that you make and it all goes like this its either you love or you hate you like or you don't like. Altho we don't talk about religion in school but one thing I noticed was that on most of the name tags on the back of cars say "IN GOD WE TRUST" and even tho I was picked on and had bad words said to me I still followed my dream and made it only at the age of 10 so all young and old I will tell you to keep following your dream.
